Hell's Kitchen

Hell's Kitchen (hĕls kich'ən). n. Hell's Kitchen is not, despite its contiguous-paper appearance, a single publication. Hell's Kitchen is a rapidly expanding federation of like-minded groups of students and alumni that want to express themselves. The primary purpose of Hell's Kitchen, in its role as a purveyor of information, is to expose ideas to a reading public clearly and interestingly. This task is completed by the individual publications within Hell's Kitchen in a variety of ways including poetry, illustrations, satire, prose, news, critiques, maps, diagrams, and even mail-in campaigns. Each separate publication group defines its own schedule, its own style, its own rules, but each group agrees to become part of the larger coalition known as Hell's Kitchen.

Member Publications:

- Gracies Dinnertime Theatre
- Melancholy Predator
- 10:1 Cereal Delusions(RIP)
- Cereal
- The Iconoclast

Why Reprints?

In an attempt to show that Hell's Kitchen would genuinely like to be accepted and thought of with pride by colleges other than the Rochester Institute of Technology (RIT), the Court of Hell's Kitchen has decided to reprint issues that were read by students on RIT, but were missed by other colleges because of their break.

Of course this means that information in the issues may not be timely. We hope, however, that most of what we present to you has enough staying power to amuse or enrage.

Enjoy. Watch for brand new issues in a few weeks. -C.Diablo, Qt.r
